Executive Summary

JMN work marks a shift in the Indian human rights movement, which has been reluctant to address injustices in the name of caste as a fundamental human rights issue. JMN became one of only a handful of organization to declare that such discrimination goes against democratic principles by promoting inequality. With less economic resources, but rich with confidence and conviction, in a short period, its managed to amplify the voice of the marginalized in national and international fora.

JMN works to promote inclusion and basic rights no matter how complex it is, as he perceives them to be essential. It is driven by the knowledge that every life has intrinsic value and through championing the inclusion of disenfranchised people across India, JMN is fighting for the love for its country. It envisions India gaining strength through this remarkable diversity instead of being ripped apart.

COVID-19 made JMN more conscious about health of common people as it focuses on proper nutrition and boosting immunity. Organization initiated multi-dimensional support to communities, institutions and NGOs towards eliminating COVID-19 and providing awareness, vaccinations etc. JMN believes speaking up is a way of resilience for a community for sustainable development at the grassroots level. Healthy human resources and the elimination of barriers for the marginalised are one of the most important ways to strengthen the economy and boost the GDP. The negative conflict burdens the economy and so, positive resolutions and participatory pluralistic democracy lay the foundation for a sustainable economy of any country.

Humanitarian support to needy, breaking culture of silence & impunity, realization of SDGs and spirit of preamble of Indian Constitution are main focus for this year. For more details please find interview of founder about JMN:

COVID-19 had a debilitating effect on child survival, health, and nutrition due to the collapse of the economic machinery. Their woes have been exacerbated by cheap packaged foods such as crunchy, chips, and cream biscuits, which are high in salt and sugar. In the post- COVID period there is a double burden of malnutrition and non-communicable disease (NCD) susceptibility among marginalised children as a result of unregulated and ultra-processed packaged foods. With the aim of creating a healthier package through Front of Package

Labelling (FOPL), JMN organized several consultative sessions with various stakeholders in Uttar Pradesh, Telanagaand New Delhi to discuss childhood obesity, diabetes, and non-communicable diseases spiralling out of control due to excessive consumption of ultra-processed food and beverages during its first quarter. JMN in collaboration with many organization founded PIPAL (People's Initiative for Participatory Action on Food Labelling) as a national grassroots initiative to accelerate the adoption of strong food labels with the support of stakeholders. JanMitraNyas had meetings with pools of politician champion, Prime Minister, Commission and State Commission and State Governments.

Great Companies: What makes JanMitraNyas from hundreds of other similar service providers?

Lenin Raghuvanshi:

JanMitraNyas(JMN) is the symbol of non-violence resistance to millions of lower caste people known as Dalits fighting for their dignity in India. JMN is credited with changing the discourse on Dalit Politics in India and bringing into focus an innovative “people centric” approach based on justice, diversity, inclusiveness and pluralism to reclaim “human dignity” for the deprived sections in a caste ridden Indian society. The gamut of its activities reflects its ideological span and provides credibility and a sense of completeness to the work it does. Its care for details, meticulous planning, diligent patience, and sincere advocacy on the issues concerning the marginalized, has made millions of its supporters optimistic about a dignified future.

Great Companies: What were the struggles and challenges you faced and how did you overcome them?

Lenin Raghuvanshi: Trust of target communities was our first challenge. We developed tools of empathy and active listening along with continuous effort with patience.
